THE SIOUX CHIEFS

SITTING BULL AND SEVERAL OTHERS NOW IN WASHINGTON,

IN CONNECTION WITH THE SALE OF THEIR DAKOTA LANDS.

They Are Excluded from a Church Pew Merely Because They Killed and Scalped the Owner's Son—They Visit the Places of Interest About the City and Attract Great Attention Elsewhere.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—A number of the Sioux Indians now in Washington to confer with the authorities about the sale of Dakota lands, participated in the fight with the United States cavalry on Little Big Horn in 1876, in which Custer and his entire command was massacred. Among the dusky visitors is Sitting Bull, who was in command of the Indians at the massacre. Saturday last a number of Indians, including Sitting Bull, were taken to St. Matthew's Catholic church. They are in the habit of attending a Catholic church in Dakota, in charge of missionary fathers.

At St. Matthew's Sunday the principal chiefs were assigned seats in the front pews. One of these pews belongs to a widow whose son was a bright young second lieutenant, who graduated at West Point about a year prior to the fight, and was one of those massacred with Custer. The usher was about to show Sitting Bull and a few of his companions into the widow's pew, when a younger son of the lady, who was occupying it, arose and objected, and the usher was obliged to put the Indians in an adjoining pew.

To day it is expected that the reply to the president to the appeal of the Sioux chiefs for the retention of their lands will be made known to them by Secretary Vilas. They will then spend another day or two in sight-seeing before resuming their journey toward the setting sun on the "wagons" which made them so very sick in coming here.

Having no business on hand Tuesday, the dusky fellows did the town in true tourist style. They began by ascending the Washington monument. Only one-half of the party could go up at one time, as the elevator will carry but thirty. Those who were left below went outside and dined about the monument and set up a deafening jabber as they tried to make the men "up in the clouds" hear them. From the monument the Indians walked down Pennsylvania avenue to the capitol.

They made a novel procession as they strolled along, looking backwards and in every direction except straight ahead. They were all in citizens' clothes, and their array of garments indicated that they had almost cleaned out the second-hand stores on D street. Early in the morning one of the young and giddy bucks had been out for a high white hat, which bore a black band reaching almost to the top.

When "Young Man Who Leads the Fashion" appeared at the hotel with this wonderful headgear, he struck his friends with consternation and envy, and they immediately started out and bought all the high-white hats they could find. As they marched through the capitol, they looked like a strolling political campaign club. They listened to Senator Cockrell's tariff speech, and as he seemed to be talking to the empty air they silently went away muttering, "He no good."

After they had seen everything of interest in the capitol building they were messaged out on the plaza at the foot of the marble steps of the senate wing, where their pictures were taken in a group. This experience pleased them so much that they would not go away until they had the camera aimed at them twice more, once while they were ranged about the statue of George Washington and again on the steps of the house wing.

All the afternoon the Indians were followed by a crowd of men, women children and dogs, but they did not pay the least attention to their admirers. Nothing that they saw moved them to show a shadow of interest. Their faces were absolutely as expressionless as if made of wood, until finally they were mounted on the top of half a dozen double-decker herdic coaches. This experience delighted some of the younger ones so much that they were compelled to grin and grunt their satisfaction.

They rode all about the city in this conspicuous manner, followed by troops of shouting boys who had just begun to recover from Buffalo Bill's recent visit when their excitement was renewed by the arrival of Sitting Bull and his savage companions. When the Indians visit Secretary Vilas to-day they will lay aside their high white hats, their paper collars and linen dusters, and will array themselves in paint and feathers, blankets and moccasins, ready to talk glibly for the possession of their land.

Our Money Counting System.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Treasurer Hyatt, Register Rascars and Mr. Miller, of the loans and currency division, the commission appointed to investigate the money counting system of the treasury department, have submitted their preliminary report to the secretary of the treasury. As a further security against theft, misstatement of notes or other irregularities, the commission recommends a system of double counting, by which notes presented for redemption are to be examined after cancellation for notes incorrectly placed, counterfeiters and other irregularities. The notes are not to be destroyed until they have passed the two sets of counters, who are to be in separate cages. An assistant superintendent is to be appointed to handle the notes between the first counters and the revisors. Acting Secretary Thompson has approved the finding of the commission.

New Mexican Report.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Gen. Edmund G. Ross, of New Mexico, makes the feature of his annual report to the secretary of the interior, the questions of the settlement of land grant titles, water, storage and navigation. He states that these questions take precedence over all others in importance to the development and welfare of the territory. He urges the passage of the bills now pending in congress, for the settlement of the disputed land grant titles; that a selection of 15,000 acres of the public lands in the territory is authorized upon which a loan can be based to apply the means to carry out a comprehensive system of irrigation.

STANDING IN HER OWN LIGHT.

It is Thought Canada Will Back Down on the Fishery Question.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The World publishes the following special dispatch from Toronto, Ont.: It is thought that the Dominion government intends to back down on the fishery question. The Free Press of London, Ont., which voices the views of Minister of Agriculture Cartier, takes the ground that Canada had better yield. After reviewing the question of the transshipment of fish in bond, it says:

"Would it not be well that Canada should waive her rights under the treaty of 1818, and be willing, under altered conditions of things in respect to carriage by rail, to permit American fishermen the privilege of making use of our lines, for the purpose of forwarding their legitimate catch to the general market? We frankly confess that we would be in favor of such a concession."

The editorial concludes that in resisting the American contention Canada is standing in her own light. The article is clearly inspired from Ottawa.

Narrow Escape of an Ocean Steamer.

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 18.—The steamer Ulunda, on her last trip from Halifax to London narrowly escaped being dashed to pieces on the rocks of New Foundland. The passengers were preparing to retire late one evening when there was a cry of "Breakers ahead." They rushed on deck and were told to get ready to take to the boats. The fog was dense but the vessel was so close to shore that the roaring breakers were clearly discernible and audible. The half-clad passengers expected instant shipwreck, and were greatly terrified, but by skillful management the peril was avoided, the steamer being gradually worked out of her dangerous position and proceeded on the voyage.

A Kentucky Murder.

MORGANFIELD, Ky., Oct. 18.—Curl Brantley and Joseph Arons were returning home from a shooting match at Blackford Monday, when a difficulty arose over some old disagreement. Arons had a shotgun and Brantley an air-gun. Brantley backed Arons some eighty steps or more, calling him ugly names. Arons succeeded finally in getting Brantley's gun, and made him promise to believe himself and make friends. Brantley promised to do so and his gun was returned to him. On receiving his gun he struck Arons on the head with it, and the latter in turn shot Brantley, killing him almost instantly. Arons then fled and has not yet been captured.

Collapse in a Railroad Tunnel.

NEWBURGH, N. Y., Oct. 18.—A collapse in the West Shore Tunnel at West Point, will probably cause a rearrangement of the time schedule for some days to come. Through passenger trains are run from here via the Erie to Jersey City. Way passengers are taken on special trains to Cornwall and then transferred by boat to West Point, where local trains are again made up. The engineer of the train that was caught in the tunnel has been unusually unlucky, having struck and killed two men this week.

Quick Judgment in Georgia.

JESSE, Ga., Oct. 18.—In January, 1886, Robert J. Smith, of this city, was murdered by Lewis Edwards, colored, who was sentenced to life imprisonment. His attorney secured a new trial, and the case was to have begun yesterday. Sunday night the sheriff brought Edwards here and at 3 o'clock Monday morning a party of masked men entered the jail and shot him dead.

HAVE HAD ENOUGH

CHICAGO GRIP CAR MEN NOT LIKELY TO STRIKE AGAIN.

SUCH WAS THE DECISION AT A MEETING TUESDAY NIGHT.

The North Chicago Drivers and Conductors

Earnestly Request the Mayor and Common Council of Lake View to Ask President Yerkes to Reinstate them—The Business Men Will Take a Hand.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Notwithstanding the bellicose of the men who failed to be reinstated, or who were placed on the extra list, it is not likely that there will be another strike on the North Side. This was decided at a meeting of the street car men at City-hall and North avenues Tuesday night. About four hundred were present.

The subject of another strike was brought up as soon as the meeting was called to order, but was ended by the following communication to Mayor Boldenweck, of Lake View:

"We, the drivers and conductors of the North Chicago Street Railway company, most respectfully request you to act in conjunction with the members of the common council of Lake View as a committee to wait on Mr. Yerkes for the purpose of asking him to reinstate all drivers and conductors in their old positions."

From the time the foregoing communication was introduced and adopted there was no further allusion to a strike.

The North Side streets cars are running as usual. All the cars manned by new men are guarded by police. There had been no disturbances reported up to 10 o'clock.

A committee of one hundred North Side business men, appointed recently to demand better street car facilities from Mr. Yerkes, will hold a meeting for organization, and to decide on a course of action. It is understood that unless satisfactory arrangements are made within a reasonable time, that quo warranto proceedings will be taken to compel the company to show by what right it occupies the streets, and to annul the ordinances and charter under which it operates.

ONLY TWO DEATHS

At Jacksonville Tuesday—Epidemic at Gainesville, Florida—Elsewhere.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 18.—The official bulletins continue to show an improvement. Tuesday's bulletin shows: New cases, 58; deaths, 3; total cases to date, 3,927; total deaths to date, 318. The new deaths are Edward Hill, colored, and a young daughter of W. C. Cooper.

Vogle, bookkeeper of the First National bank are both down with the fever. The board of health has telegraphed for more nurses, and it is feared that it will be necessary to make a public appeal for financial aid.

Montgomery Lumber Quarantine.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 18.—The quarantine has been lifted here in reference to De canter and Jackson, Miss.

THE OHIO PENITENTIARY.

Some Talk That It May Be Removed From Columbus to Mansfield.

MANSFIELD, O., Oct. 18.—The joint legislative committee appointed to investigate and report to the general assembly the advisability of removing the state penitentiary to Mansfield and locating it upon the grounds where the intermediate penitentiary is now building, was in the city Tuesday, and in company with the board of managers of the intermediate and the citizens' committee, visited the prison grounds and made other investigations in the line of work for which it was appointed.

The committee has given no positive statement of its views, but it is semi-officially announced that it will recommend to the legislature the removal of the state penal institution.

It is understood that this action will be taken because the grounds at Columbus can be sold to the railroad companies at a figure which will go far toward defraying the expenses of erecting new buildings here in addition to the intermediate buildings, and that thus the management of the institutions can be largely combined, thereby reducing unnecessary expenses.

Killed the Wrong Man.

BONHAM, Tex., Oct. 18.—John A. Sims came into town Tuesday night, and surrendered himself to the authorities. He says that he shot and killed Pleas Payne, a farmer living eight miles south of here, whom he mistook for a man named Wall. Sims has been living at the house of Mr. Payne. Recently Sims had some difficulty with Wall, and on Sunday was informed that Wall had threatened to kill him. Tuesday evening after dark Farmer Payne was about entering his home when Sims mistook him for Wall and fired on him with fatal effect. Sims is almost frantic over the matter. He is well known here, and his story is believed to be entirely true. He has been placed in jail pending an examination.

Bold Robbers Got Left.

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 18.—Last Monday night at 10 o'clock, a gang of masked men rushed into the smelting works on the outskirts of the city and demanded the money and valuables of the six men who were working there at the time. One big workman named O'Connell instantly attacked the marauders with an iron crow-bar, felling one of them to the ground. This checked the onslaught, and another workman started the steam whistle which so frightened the robbers that they fled, taking their wounded comrade with them. The police expect to capture the whole gang.

Ancient Church Building Gone.

EUPHRATA, Pa., Oct. 18.—Tuesday morning one of the historic buildings of the once flourishing German Baptist community was totally destroyed by fire. The building was one of a number put up by Conrad Beisel, founder of this strange community 150 years ago, and occupied by men and women who called themselves "Brothers" and "Sisters," and had everything in common. The community has long since died out, but the buildings have been maintained because of their historical interest. There is no insurance.

THREATENED WITH STARVATION.

Seventy Families in Ramsey County, Dakota, Without Food or Clothing.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 18.—M. J. Hornmann, of this city, who has been investigating the condition of the farmers in Ramsey county, Dakota, who were reported to be starving to death, returned Tuesday night. He says there are seventy families who are absolutely destitute of food and fuel and something must be done, and immediately, or they will starve to death. The real condition of the people is beyond description. Men, women and children are in rags, and they have not a cent of money in the world. Their crops were totally destroyed, and their land, stock and farm implements are mortgaged up to their full value, and the mortgages are threatening foreclosure.

The most absolute distress prevailed everywhere. Women and children were crying, and men were going barefooted and in rags.

The frost which came in August completely destroyed all of the wheat that there was, as well as all vegetables, even those which are as hardy as turnips. It is claimed that the frost was sufficiently severe to form a quarter of an inch of ice in the low places. Of the seventy families in the Jewish settlement sixty had everything destroyed, while ten others, who had their farms on high ground, escaped with only a partial loss.

A TEST CASE.

A Western Union Agent Refuses to Deliver Telegrams in Court.

LARAMIE CITY, Wyo., T. Oct. 18.—In the district court of Albany, Monday, Manager Black, of the Western Union, was fined $100 and committed to jail for twenty-four hours for failure to produce certain telegrams as directed by Judge Saultley. A few weeks ago Edward J. Wagner, a clothier of Laramie, gave a bill of sale on his stock to Charles Wagner, of St. Louis, his brother. Several creditors then served attachments on the ground that the transfer had been made in order to defraud them.

Black, as manager of the Western Union, was commanded to produce all the telegrams that had passed between the Wagners, but, upon the advice of Superintendent Dickey, refused to do so. Dickey sent evening telegraphed Black to stand firm, as the company proposed making a test case of it.

In committing Black Judge Saultley said: "We will see which has the greatest power, the Western Union Telegraph company or the congress of the United States. Mr. Clerk, enter up a fine of $100 against Mr. Black, and Mr. Sheriff, commit him to jail until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning. There is to be no parole about this business, but he is to remain in jail until his fine is paid."

A NEW ROAD OPENED

The line from here to Portage La Prairie will be completed by November 1, and Premier Greenway announced in the legislature Tuesday that next summer the Northern Pacific, which has obtained control of these roads, will build a branch opening up the Souris country. The Northern Pacific & Manitoba company, which controls these roads, has now been fully organized. Messrs. Greenway and Martin, members of the local government, are directors of the road to represent provincial interests.

Good News For Oklahoma Boomers.

OKMULGEE, I. T., Oct. 18.—A committee representing the Creek council took a step Tuesday that will go a long way toward encouraging the Oklahoma boomers. This committee was appointed ten days ago by the council to investigate and report upon the advisability of disposing of the residuary rights of the Creeks in the Oklahoma lands. The committee submitted its report Tuesday. After stating that the Creeks have a large interest in the lands, it suggests that a ready market is now awaiting, and that the council has full authority to dispose of the lands whenever it sees fit. This report if adopted will put some of the lands on the market in a short time.

Lower Pipe Trust Forming.

JACKSON, Mich., Oct. 18.—D. E. Hill, of Akron, O., president of the National Association of Sewer Pipe Manufacturers; Theodore Rhoads, of Columbus, secretary of the same; F. H. Hendricks, of Wellsville; N. M. Waller and C. A. Freeman, of Stouenville, wealthy manufacturers, were in the city Tuesday for the alleged purpose of forcing the local pipemakers into a scheme of forming a gigantic trust. If the combination is effected they will virtually control the sewer pipe market of the world.

Roasted Alive

DENVER, Col., Oct. 18.—Tuesday morning a woman named Jeannette, a fortune teller in the lower part of the city, while intoxicated, attempted to fill a lighted lamp with kerosene. The lamp exploded, setting fire to her clothes and the house. Before the flames could be extinguished the woman was literally roasted, huge pieces of flesh falling off her limbs while she was being conveyed to the hospital. She died in terrible agony last evening.

Smallpox at Quarantine.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The Presbyterian synod of Baltimore convened here last night, and will remain in session several days. Rev. Joseph T. Smith, of Baltimore, was elected moderator, and preached the sermon. Rev. John T. Carter was elected clerk.

Allison.

As late as 1870 Senator Allison, the great Republican leader, had this to say of the Democratic tariff of 1846:

The tariff of 1846, although confessedly and professedly a tariff for revenue, was, so far as regards all the great interests of the country, as perfect a tariff as any that we have ever had.

He further said in referring to a proposed reduction of tariff:

But I may be asked how this reduction shall be made. I think it should be upon all leading articles, or nearly all, and for that purpose when I can get an opportunity in the House, if no gentleman does before me, I shall move that the pending bill be recommended to the Committee on Ways and Means with instructions to report a reduction upon existing rates of duty equivalent to 20 per cent., or one-fifth reduction. Even this will not be a full equivalent for the removal of all the internal taxes upon manufacturers.

Now if Senator Allison thought that the tariff imports in 1870, when the rate was less than 47 per cent., could be safely and wisely reduced 20 per cent. is it unreasonable or dangerous to the manufacturing interests that the Democrats want to reduce it 4 per cent., which is 10 per cent. less than he advocated? No sensible man will claim it is unreasonable.

Senator Allison advocated—went on record as doing so—20 per cent. reduction of the tariff in 1870; now he is crying "free trade" at the Democrats for trying to affect a reduction of 4 or 5 per cent.

Free Tin.

Mr. F. B. Thurber, a well known New York merchant, has the following to say in the American Grocer in regard to free tin:

My business would be benefited, if anything by an increase of duty, as I could use it as an excuse to exact twice the amount from customers. But the country at large, and the manufacturers also in the end will be helped by a repeal of the duty on tin plate. Free tin means 6 cents per dozen less on all three-pound canned goods and about 10 cents per dozen on gallon canned goods, to the consumer.

Mr. Thurber in thus speaking voices the sentiment of very many business men who are Republicans and will support Mr. Cleveland for a second term. They have the good sense to see that tin plate which has a protection of $1.10 a box does not really need any protection, as not a single box of it is made in this country, or is likely to be.

Sixteen million dollars are sent out of this country every year for tin and the people are compelled by the tariff to pay five million dollars for the privilege of using this foreign commodity. It is a hardship that the Democrats propose to remove by putting tin on the free list. Vote to sustain them in their effort.

A vote for Paynter is a vote in favor of doing away with war taxes.

The election ticket to be voted in Ohio this fall will be the longest one ever voted in that State. The Presidential, State, district and county tickets will be printed on one ballot, and as the law requires that not less than one-fifth of an inch space shall be left below each name and that the ticket shall not be over 2 1/2 inches in width, they will be somewhere in the neighborhood of a yard long by 2 1/2 inches wide.

COLONEL WILLIAM CURRIUS GOODLOE, Chairman of the Republican National Executive Committee, was at Lexington Monday and offered to bet $500 New York will go 50,000 for Harrison. A fellow named Martin stepped up and said: "I have just had my bank book balanced, and I have $302.50 in bank, and I will bet you $300 of it that Cleveland is elected." Colonel Goodloe said he would not bet less than $500, and Mr. Martin told him he had only $300 to bet. No bet was made.

The Colonel doesn't want to come around Maysville offering any such $500 bet as the above. They would be snatched up so quick that "it would make his head swim."

In mentioning the recent joint discussion at that place between Messrs. Davis and Hendricks, the Carlisle Mercury says: "Those who listened to Colonel Thomas A. Davis' speech last Saturday must have been particularly delighted to learn that 'old high protective tariff' is a bigger man than Jehovah. The great development of this country, the increase in population, the increase in stock, the increase in butter, the increase in learning, the increase in everything was shown to be directly due to high taxes. If Colonel Davis' argument is true, why does not his party propose to raise the rate of taxation? The Colonel asked the question: 'Is there no God?' Our answer is, that if Republican argument is true He has not been at work in the United States for twenty-eight years. But there is a God, and no party ever had greater reason to fear him than the G. O. P. 'I am a jealous God,' we learn from the scriptures, and if this is true, what a fate is in store for the party who robs God of his just praise."

The Alleged Anarchists' Cases.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—The cases of the alleged Anarchists, Chapek, Sevic, Hronek, et al., came up before Judge Jamieson. This motion will be argued Friday morning.

KENTUCKY MASONS.

Annual Session of the Grand Bodies of the Order, Held at Louisville.

The Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons held their annual session at Louisville this week. The election and appointment of officers for ensuing year resulted as follows:

High Priest—H. G. Sandtler.
Deputy High Priest—H. B. Grant.
King—J. D. Powers.
Sennel—C. H. Fisk.
Treasurer—J. H. Leathers.
Secretary—J. H. Brannan.
Chaplain—Rev. J. H. Young, D. D.
Captain of Host—C. H. Johnson.
Royal Arch Captain—Judge W. P. Coons.

Judge Coons, of this city, was made chairman of the Committee on Finance, and Mr. W. LaRue Thomas chairman of the Committee on Unfinished Business.

The annual session of the Grand Lodge, F. & A. M., was also held. Grand Master J. Soule Smith decided that the business of saloon-keeping is not a Masonic offense, and declared a resolution adopted a year ago to that effect as unconstitutional and void.

In regard to the Masonic Widows' and Orphans' Home at Louisville the report shows an endowment fund of $167,495.78 invested. It is stated that 85 per cent. of the girls who have left the Home have married. The total number of beneficiaries admitted since the Home was opened is 577. Of this, eight were from Louisville and 55 from Jefferson County. The remainder are from all parts of the State. Louisville, aside from donations by lodges and individuals, has contributed, as realized from St. John's Day celebrations, the sum of $78,580 in seventeen years, the largest amount being $14,959.62, in 1873; and the next largest, $12,679.20, in 1888. The average number of beneficiaries is about two hundred, at an average cost of $101.03. The report shows the Home to be in good condition throughout, with all its departments in excellent working order.

Mrs. Scott Siddons' Clothes.

The Paris correspondent of the New York Tribune says: "I have just seen some of the long array of dresses made by Maison Roger for Mrs. Scott Siddons, and as they are of the latest make a description of them may be interesting, especially to the ladies."

"A characteristic dress has a very severe and stately looking skirt made entirely of iris purple, with a long, gathered square train; front and sides are draped just sufficiently to produce a few folds on the left, fastened with a dark green and iris passementerie girdle, which hangs loose around the hips. The corsage of iris velvet has a square opening at the neck, filled in with a fichu of light heliotrope crepe. On a plastron of white velvet iris flowers and leaves are worked high in relief and in their natural colors. The mediaeval sleeve that was formerly called the angel sleeve hangs from the shoulder down. They are made of iris velvet lined with heliotrope crepe. In side is an elbow sleeve of heliotrope crepe. "Here is a beautiful evening dress: Over a thickly gathered lace flounce falls an ivory satin skirt whose front is thickly incrustated with multicolored beads and plaques of mother of pearl. Nothing more gorgeous in the way of ornamentation can be imagined. A thick fringe of variegated beads forming rounded scallops rests on the lace flounce. From the waist, long, luminous lines of gold, silver and bead incrustations, intersected with carved mother of pearl, descend and grow wider as they reach the bursting of the rainbow colors of a fan-shaped rocket. Side panels of gilded bronze velvet are lined with shrimp satin. The panels are tucked up here and there and show the lining as if by accident. The long gathered train is of ivory satin. There is an ivory satin corsage, all the edges of which are bound with a bias strip of gilded bronze velvet. It is cut square and decollete, and has a plastron with embroideries to match the front of the skirt; very short tulle sleeves."

Wood-Worthington.

The marriage of Mr. Robert G. Wood, of Helena Station, and Miss Mariel Worthington took place yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's father, Mr. Jesse Worthington, of Cluctaw. The couple, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cook, of Helena, drove to this city later in the afternoon where they took supper at the St. Charles Hotel, and left shortly afterwards on the Bonanza for Cincinnati on a bridal trip.

The Fleming True Blue Democrat says: "The bride is an accomplished young lady, and belongs to one of the best known families in Mason. Mr. Wood is salesman and clerk for H. W. Warder, agent at Helena Station, and was formerly with Harrison Brothers, merchants, at Helena, and with J. A. Patton, now of Delhi, O. He is a young man of the best character, popular and a general favorite."

A JUDGEMENT REVERSED.

Marshall's Administrator vs. the Trustees of the Colored Baptist Church of Mayslick.

The Superior Court in reversing the judgement in the above mentioned case says:

First—Land was conveyed to the trustees of the colored Baptist Church of Mayslick and their successors in office "for the use and benefit of the colored Baptist congregation of Mayslick, Ky., for church and school purposes." Held—That there is nothing in this deed which would prohibit the trustees, acting under the express authority of the church, conferred at a regular church meeting, from erecting a house upon the land to be used as a parsonage.

Second—A contract for the building of a house provides that the parties who build the house "shall hold the house until the best dollar is paid." Including interest, etc. Held—That this contract did not confer upon the builders such a lien upon the land on which the house is built, or upon the house itself, as could be enforced by a sale of the house and land. The Chancellor was only authorized to order the property to be rented upon proper terms until the amount of rent cancels the debt.

Third—As the evidence seems to have been taken upon the idea that all the material allegations of the answer were denied, the plaintiff (appellee) should be allowed, if he so desires, to file a reply upon the return of the case, a material allegation of the answer being uncontroverted.

The case against William O'Brien and Fred Broese for disturbing the entertainment at the opera house Tuesday night came up before Mayor Pearce and a jury yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. A separate trial was demanded, and the warrant against O'Brien was first heard. He was found guilty, the jury fixing the penalty at a fine of $10 and costs. Mayor Pearce will hear the case against Broese this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The Ripley Bee says: "A large planing and gristmill stood in the way of the new railroad at Four Mile, Ky. Every sort of overture from the railroad company to the owner had been spurned, but the time at last came when the railroad had to have the right of way, and it got it. Early on the morning of Sunday, Oct. 7th, a contractor and 150 men fell upon that mill, great was the fall thereof. The owner lived three miles distant, but before he could rise and reach the scene, his mill was a mass of splinters and a standard gauge track was laid over its foundations, despite his foaming and fuming."

THE POOR AMEER.

BESIDES BEING RACKED PAINS BY OF THE BODY

HE IS TORTURED BY UPRISING AMONG HIS SUBJECTS.

His Troops and the Tashkurgan Rebels Have Bloody Battle in Which the Latter Is Defeated—The Overthrow of France Predicted—Emperor William at Naples. Foreign Notes.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—The troubles of the ameer of Afghanistan are increasing rapidly. Tortured with the pains of an incurable illness he is also racked with the pains of an unceasing war against his authority by first one and then another of the various tribes which comprise his subjects. No sooner has he settled, to all appearances, one armed dispute than he has another on his hands, and frequently the soldiers he sends out against a horde of rebels join the insurgents without so much as the formality of a preliminary parley.

From the reports received from the Indian government Tuesday we learn that a fight between the ameer's troops and the Tashkurgan rebels has taken place, in which the loss is stated to have been 500 of the ameer's army and 1,600 of the rebels killed and wounded. This vague and ex parte statement would imply that the rebels were routed, and the rebellion, so far as it related to that locality, ended. This line of reasoning, however, to anybody who knows the topography of the region in which the battle is alleged to have been fought, the character of the inhabitants and the methods of warfare in vogue, conveys no such idea. Assuming that the rebels lost the greater number of men, though nobody believes that the casualties were proportionately, as stated, the rebels still have the advantage in that they are able to retire to fastnesses inaccessible to the soldiery of Abdurrahman, because of their ignorance of the physical features of the regions in which they are fighting.

But it is not with the rebellious tribes alone, or even in large part, that the ameer is waging war. There is an irresistible force tending southward, which neither he nor his patron and presumed protector, the Indian government can much longer withstand. Three-fifths of the tribes of Afghanistan are corrupted by Russian gold or Muscovite promises to an interminable war with the Cabul government, and the time is not far distant when Russia will intervene ostensibly to protect her interests, real or imaginary, but actually to obtain a foothold in the Indian protectorates. Already the Russian railway system, which is the one thing needful to the success of her proposed Indian operations, is completed to within a comparatively few miles of the point from which her army may be attacked with reasonable prospects of the fall of that stronghold, and the expulsion of the ameer from his capital is obviously a mere question of time.

Mackenzie's Mistake.
NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—A special cable to the Herald from Heidelberg, Germany, says: Professor Kussmann, formerly of Strasburg, now of Heidelberg, a great German authority on diseases of the lungs, was called on, it will be remembered, in the Emperor Frederick's case, by Morrell Mackenzie. They quarreled at San Remo because Mackenzie refused to allow Kussmann to examine the emperor's larynx, and the German physician returned home in forty-eight hours. "Mackenzie," said the professor, "certainly undervalued Dr. Gerhardt, who was distinguished in laryngoscopy long before Mackenzie meddled with it. Gerhardt is one of the fathers of the science."

"He goes back to the time when Thorek and Czernik first brought it before the medical world. From the time laryngoscopy was studied Gerhardt has made discovery after discovery in the pathology of the larynx." He is one of the best diagnosticians and as a general practitioner is certainly superior to Mackenzie. He made a correct diagnosis in a very short time of the emperor's case, a difficult thing to do. Mackenzie thought he had a benign growth to deal with, and when he found he was wrong could not bring himself to acknowledge his mistake, and surrender his illustrious patient to Gerhardt and Bergmann, as he ought to have done."

France's Overthrow Predicted.
PARIS, Oct. 18.—The most momentous event about to transpire in Europe is the constitutional revision measure introduced by Premier Floquet. The German newspapers speak distrustfully of the situation. The North German Gazette, quoting the Temps' ironical comments on Premier Floquet's revision bill, indorses the prediction of the Temps that an empire is at hand. The Tiegblatt thinks that something unexpected will happen in France, and that the doom of the Moderate Republican party was sealed on Monday. Sixty-seven Republicans, headed by M. Ferry, did not vote in the division.

The measure does not appear to be regarded as a possibility, and the journals ignore the details. The revision committee has decided to confer first with Premier Floquet and then with the authors of seven other revision schemes. In the chamber of deputies, M. Dugue de la Fauconnerie, a member of the Right, introduced a resolution declaration that the proper time for a revision of the constitution was after the elections for members of the chamber of deputies had shown in what sense the people desired a revision. He asked urgency for his resolution, which the chamber refused.

Emperor Frederick Entombed.
BERLIN, Oct. 18.—Emperor Frederick presided at a meeting of the committee for the relief of the sufferers by the recent inundations. Dr. Achenbach, governor of the province of Brandenburg, made an address in which he eulogized Emperor Frederick for her work in relieving the sufferers. The committee reported that the distress among the people had been removed. Emperor Frederick thanked the committee for their self-sacrificing efforts in behalf of the destitute in the flooded districts.

The Italian Enthusiast.
NAPLES, Oct. 18.—Emperor William, King Humbert, Prince Henry of Prussia and the dukes of Austria and Genoa arrived in this city at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon. The progress of the exulted visitors from the station to the royal palace was made at the slowest pace, owing to the density of the crowds which had gathered along the route. It is estimated that there were half a million persons on the street. The royal party were given a fervidly enthusiastic reception.

The purpose of all this royal visiting occupies the minds of the thoughtful. This emphasizing of the irrefragable nature of the triple alliance and stimulation of enthusiasm in its favor is equivalent to an announcement that it is about to be put to a severe test. The interests and aims of the three allies, Germany, Austria and Italy, are by no means identical. For instance, the king of Holland is the last descendant of William the Silent. When death overtakes him Germany will endeavor to incorporate Holland into the empire, to which England will most decidedly object.

England is Italy's virtual and most important ally, and her loyalty to the triple alliance in such a contingency would be terribly strained. So Austria is by no means willing to permit such interference by Russia in the affairs of the Balkan slave populations as Germany has shown herself willing to grant. So many other diversified interests render the triple alliance weak enough to need the bolstering of popular sentiment which it is now receiving.

Major Barttelot's Murderer Hanged.
BRUSSELS, Oct. 18.—A courier has arrived here from the Congo Free State. He brings details of the death of Maj. Barttelot, who was shot and killed with a revolver by a porter in the Stanley relief expedition, in revenge for the ill-treatment he was subjected to by Maj. Barttelot. The murderer was placed under arrest and delivered to the officials at Stanley Falls. He has since been hanged for the crime.

Foreign Notes.
Floods in Abruzzo have caused enormous damage and the loss of many lives. It is expected that Cardinal Manning will pass a portion of the Winter in Rome.

The prince of Wales has bade farewell to Emperor Francis Joseph and started for England. James E. Flood is still in bed at Heidelberg, although he is improving under the care of his three physicians.

The executive committee of Hamburg has given notice that free commercial intercourse with Germany has commenced.

The will of the late Lord Sackville bequeaths everything unentailed to the queen's maids of honor. Sir S. L. West, the British minister at Washington, inherits the estate and £10,000 yearly.

At a meeting of the Anglo-American lodge of Free Masons in London the secretary presented a "loving-cup" in behalf of the Maryland lodge, in acknowledgment of the courtesies extended to the Maryland grand master while in England; also, a jewel to Mr. Brackstone Baker in behalf of the same lodge.

The Times devotes an entire page to an impartial review of both Dr. Mackenzie's book and the reports of the German physicians on the late Emperor Frederick, and after a calm dissection of both, decides that Mackenzie is shown to have applied the knife in the treatment of the Kaiser's throat oftener than did his German colleagues.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Fate's Remarkable Coincidence.
OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 18.—A remarkable series of coincidences is shown in the deaths of two young men, residents of Garyowen, Jackson county, Iowa. Their names were William Shanahan and Dennis Donovan. Both were born and raised in the same town. Both were twenty-seven years of age, both were married the same day, both of their wives died within a day of each other, and they themselves both died yesterday and were buried to-day. An old fortune-teller, according to report, long ago cast their horoscopes and predicted that their fortunes would be identical.

Fatally Shot His Father.
MAHOMET, Ill., Oct. 18.—George Rowe, eighteen years old, the son of James Rowe, of this place, shot his father Tuesday, the ball passing through his neck. The father will die. Rowe was a butcher, and kept a small stock of goods. He charged George with stealing cigars from the show case and a quarrel resulted. The father threw a scale weight at his son, who thereupon immediately drew a revolver and fired. He was arrested and lodged in the county jail at Urbana to await the result of the wounds.
